

Harmonia Guitars

Description: this will be a web application used for planning and tracking weekly guitar practice sessions. It will allow users to create multiple weekly schedule plans that specify length of practice time, techniques practiced, and songs being practiced/learned.

Users will be able to select which practice plan they will want to follow for the current week. Each day, they will be able to record their proficiency level for specific techniques as well as their progress towards learning songs. There will be a “practice history” page that allows users to see what they practiced from previous days/weeks.

Users will be able to add songs to a private song library; a song can contain an image icon, a link to an external video/audio recording of the song, and a list of techniques used in the song.

Potential pages:

1. Song library
2. Schedule maker
3. Practice history
4. Record current day's practice results (length of practice, what was practice, changes in proficiency)
5. My progress page (showing proficiency in certain techniques, as well as current songs being practiced)
6. User info